The Lectionary Commentary: Theological Exegesis for Sunday's Texts, The Third Readings: Jun 23 2020 Preaching pastors, ministers, and priests know how quickly Sundays come and go. The Lectionary Commentary will not slow the pace of the weekly calendar, but it will help assure that sermon preparation begins with a solid engagement with Scripture. Designed to "jump start" the difficult task of sermon preparation, this indispensable three-volume work gathers exegetical essays on biblical texts from the Revised Common Lectionary. Covering every Sunday of the three-year liturgical cycle, as well as Christmas Day, Epiphany, and Ascension Day, the readings are arranged in canonical order so as to be of use to all preachers. Seventy-eight pastors, priests, and teachers from a variety of Christian traditions have contributed their insights to The Lectionary Commentary. Designed to answer the question What does the preacher need to know about this text in order to preach a faithful sermon from it?, each of their essays closely considers its specific biblical text, all the while remaining alert to the contemporary context in which the sermon will be spoken and heard. The result is an invaluable resource that will aid in the difficult task of facilitating a meaningful encounter between Holy Scripture and our modern world. This volume, The Third Readings: The Gospels, provides exegetical commentary on the lectionary readings for the witnesses to Jesus Christ written by Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John. Also unique to this volume is an excellent essay by C. Clifton Black on Augustinian preaching and the nurture of Christians. Consulting Editors: Richard A. Burrige Thomas W. Gillespie Colin E. Gunton Robert W. Jenson James F. Kay Hughes Oliphant Old Fleming Rutledge Marguerite Shuster

Evil Harvest Nov 09 2021 On a peaceful August morning in 1985, grim-face FBI agents led a dawn raid on an eighty-acre farm outside Rulo, Nebraska, said to be occupied by a group of religious survivalists led by the charismatic Mike Ryan. What they found on the farm shocked even experienced investigators. For months Ryan's Nebraska neighbors spoke in whispers of gunfire in the night, the disappearance of women and children, neo-Nazis and white supremacists. But little did the locals know what was happening to those Mike Ryan decided to punish for their "sins." In Evil Harvest, Rod Colvin re-creates a chilling story of torture, hate, and perversion, and how good, ordinary people could be pulled into a destructive, religious cult—a cult that committed unthinkable acts in the name of God.

The Fatal Harvest Reader Dec 22 2022 Fatal Harvest takes an unprecedented look at our current ecologically destructive agricultural system and offers a compelling vision for an organic and environmentally safer way of producing the food we eat. It gathers together more than forty essays by leading ecological thinkers including Wendell Berry, Wes Jackson, David Ehrenfeld, Helena Norberg-Hodge, Vandana Shiva, and Gary Nabhan. Providing a unique and invaluable antidote to the efforts by agribusiness to obscure and disconnect us from the truth about industrialized foods, it demonstrates that industrial food production is indeed a "fatal harvest"—fatal to consumers, fatal to our landscapes, fatal to genetic diversity, and fatal to our farm communities. As it exposes the ecological and social impacts of industrial agriculture's fatal harvest, Fatal Harvest details a new ecological and humane vision for agriculture. It shows how millions of people are engaged in the new politics of food as they work to develop a better alternative to the current chemically fed and biotechnology-driven system. Designed to aid the movement to reform industrial agriculture, Fatal Harvest informs and influences the activists, farmers, policymakers, and consumers who are seeking a safer and more sustainable food future.

major Los Angeles hospital, Joanna Blalock's professional cool is tested to the limit when her younger sister Kate is brought back from an archaeological dig in a coma and placed in the ICU. She and her entire team have caught a virulent, Ebola-type virus, and most of them are already dead. The only hope is a transplant, but waiting lists are long and good matches hard to find. In desperation Joanna turns to a legal, for-profit company that has a remarkable record of locating excellent organ donors from around the world - at a price. To raise the money Joanna drains her savings, mortgages her condo, and even accepts a generous loan from her ex-lover, homicide detective Jake Sinclair. But while focusing on her own impending tragedy, Joanna doesn't realize that she's walking right into another kind of nightmare. It doesn't occur to her that the company selling organs is too good, too successful at always coming up with the perfect transplant just in the nick of time. Only after Joanna is in deep, too deep, with her sister's life hanging by a thread, does it dawn on her that something horrific is going on - and that purchasing an organ will make her an accomplice. For now that she knows the donor source, Joanna realizes that her life, too, is on the line.

Bred for Harvest Jan 19 2020 Brogan Parr is a mess. With a marriage going south, finances in the swamp, and enduring the anxiety of teaching hormonal high school adolescents, her jangled nerves make it hard for her to function. Then she stumbles upon a startling anachronism in her neighborhood: a polygamist colony situated on a cul-de-sac a few streets over from her house. As she lives her dysfunctional life and tries to appear normal by going to church and working and interacting with neighbors, this discovery of young polygamist girls living a medieval life in the middle of twenty-first century Utah, deepens the complexity of her already charged existence. Both as a teacher and the new Young Women President of her Mormon congregation, she is upset and intrigued at this strange revelation, but is too busy to think about helping them, at least not at first. Her best friend, Gillian Alfred, a fellow church member with familial ties to the polygamists, provides Brogan with a link to this community. The two women visit Gillian's Aunt Delecta, the polygamist matriarch, occasionally taking casseroles and garden victuals to augment the poverty-stricken clan's food stores. Initially, Brogan's interactions with the polygamists satisfy a simple voyeurism fed by her curiosity, but when she meets and bonds with Hepzibah Pilar, a young girl of 13 who is being bred to marry an old polygamist elder, she resolves to become personally involved. She must stop the marriage, and indeed the very practice of these underage couplings in this particular order of polygamists. The head of the order, Rieve Skinner, a controlling patriarch who has at least fifteen wives, harbors as many secrets as he does spouses, and most of those secrets involve underage girls, including his daughters. When Brogan uncovers the felonious extent of those covert acts and their violent and sick ramifications, she, along with Gillian, launch an improbable and dangerous rescue that puts both of them in the literal gun sights of the dangerous Rieve Skinner.

Deadly Harvest Feb 24 2023 When a young woman is found dead in a field, dressed up as a scarecrow with a slashed grin and a broken neck, the residents of Salem, Massachusetts, begin to fear that the infamous Harvest Man is more than just a rumor. But out-of-town cop Jeremy Flynn doesn't have time for ghost stories. He's in town on another investigation, looking for a friend's wife, who mysteriously vanished in a cemetery. Complicating his efforts is local occult expert Rowenna Cavanaugh, who launches her own investigation, convinced that a horror from the past has crept into the present and is seducing women to their deaths. Jeremy uses logic and solid police work. Rowenna depends on intuition. But they both have the same goal: to stop the abductions and locate the missing women before Rowenna herself falls prey to the Harvest Man's dark seduction.

Saints: The Story of the Church of Jesus Christ in the Latter Days Jun 04 2021 In 1820, a young farm boy in search of truth has a vision of God the Father and Jesus Christ. And in Red Harvest, Hammett's anonymous tough-guy detective, the Continental Op, takes on the entire town of Poisonville in a deadly war against corruption. "Dashiell Hammett is a master of the detective novel, yes, but also one hell of a writer."—Boston Globe "Hammett was spare, hard-boiled, but he did over and over what only the best writers can ever do. He wrote scenes that seemed never to have been written before."—Raymond Chandler "Hammett's prose was clean and entirely unique. His characters were as sharply and economically defined as any in American fiction."—The New York Times "As a novelist of realistic intrigue, Hammett was unsurpassed in his own or any time."—Ross Macdonald "Dashiell Hammett's dialogues can be compared only with the best in Hemingway."—André Gide "Hammett is one of the best contemporary American writers."—Gertrude Stein

Even Sherlock Holmes would be proud of this astute group of professionals."—Booklist This updated edition features a brand new section detailing important facts about the coronavirus and tips for keeping yourself and your family safe. Despite advances in health care, infectious microbes continue to be a formidable adversary to scientists and doctors. Vaccines and antibiotics, the mainstays of modern medicine, have not been able to conquer infectious microbes because of their amazing ability to adapt, evolve, and spread to new places. Terrorism aside, one of the greatest dangers from infectious disease we face today is from a massive outbreak of drug-resistant microbes. Deadly Outbreaks recounts the scientific adventures of a special group of intrepid individuals who investigate these outbreaks around the world and figure out how to stop them. Part homicide detective, part physician, these medical investigators must view the problem from every angle, exhausting every possible source of contamination. Any data gathered in the field must be stripped of human sorrows and carefully analyzed into hard statistics. Author Alexandra Levitt, PhD, is an expert on emerging diseases and other public health threats. Here she shares insider accounts she's collected that go behind the alarming headlines we've seen in the media: mysterious food poisonings, unexplained deaths at a children's hospital, a strange neurologic disease afflicting slaughterhouse workers, flocks of birds dropping dead out of the sky, and drug-resistant malaria running rampant in a refugee camp. Meet the resourceful investigators—doctors, veterinarians, and research scientists—and discover the truth behind these cases and more.*

Children of Aataentsic Apr 14 2022 Trigger's work integrates insights from archaeology, history, ethnology, linguistics, and geography. This wide knowledge allows him to show that, far from being a static prehistoric society quickly torn apart by European contact and the fur trade, almost every facet of Iroquoian culture had undergone significant change in the centuries preceding European contact. He argues convincingly that the European impact upon native cultures cannot be correctly assessed unless the nature and extent of precontact change is understood. His study not only stands Euro-American stereotypes and fictions on their heads, but forcefully and consistently interprets European and Indian actions, thoughts, and motives from the perspective of the Huron culture. The Children of Aataentsic revises widely accepted interpretations of Indian behaviour and challenges cherished myths about the actions of some celebrated Europeans during the "heroic age" of Canadian history. In a new preface, Trigger describes and evaluates contemporary controversies over the ethnohistory of eastern Canada.

*Deadly Seeds Oct 28 2020 James Orayo Fielding is a multimillionaire. He hates people. Considers them little more than bugs ... to be controlled or eradicated. Fielding also has a new way to solve the famine that is escalating in many overpopulated countries. It is a secret grain treatment that matures seeds in just one month. News of this spectacular process sweeps across the world. Starving nations of India, Asia, Africa, and South America literally ransom their treasures to be given the formula for this key to survival. Ecologists and world leaders are proclaiming Fielding as a hero to mankind. All this adulation merely bugs the wily old man. He'll do as he pleases, when he damn well chooses to do so, and harvest all the profits himself. Foreign agents attempt to steal the formula. Even the Mafia attempts to get into the picture. Naturally, CURE is also involved. Is it really possible to feed the world at discount prices? Why would a millionaire delay the chance to make billions of dollars?
