Keeping the Faith Jul 26 2020 This book explores the modern relationship between religion and science, highlighting the public backlash over teaching evolution in U.S. public schools as an example of the conflict between religious faith and scientific reason. The author explores the middle ground between the two most extreme arguments, arguing that it is possible for science and religion to exist in harmony. The book also provides an analysis of 10 world religions, including Christianity, Islam, Judaism, Hinduism, and Buddhism, revealing how each finds compatibility with differing religions and scientific doctrine.

The Eternal City Feb 01 2021 A major new interpretation of the impact of ancient Rome on our culture, this study charts the effects of two diametrically opposed views of Roman antiquity: the virtuous republic of self-less citizen soldiers and the corrupt empire of power-hungry tyrants. The power of these images is second only to those derived from Christianity in constructing our modern culture. Few modern readers are aware of how indebted we are to the Roman model of our political philosophy, art, music, cinema, opera, and drama. Originally published in 1987. A UNC Press Enduring Edition -- UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print. These editions are published unaltered from the original, and are presented in affordable paperback formats, bringing readers both historical and cultural value.

America Is Born: Introducing the Regulus USA National

Horoscope Apr 03 2021 Ever since Ebenezer Sibly first introduced his proposed horoscope for the Declaration of Independence in his 1780 book 'The Celestial Science of Astrology, ' agreement on the correct USA National Horoscope has proven elusive with over a dozen different horoscope variations proposed. Discovery of the Regulus USA National Horoscope is unique for its first application of medieval astrological techniques to the question of modern National Horoscopes. Focusing on the Ascendant, over 300 measurements computed using both primary directions and solar arc directions are presented to support the rectification. Included as a special application of primary directions is the largest empirical study of Directing through the Bounds ever attempted or presented. Results that the directed Ascendant times shifts in the national consciousness represent a significant contribution to the history of American social movements. Intended for astrologers new to primary directions, America is Born includes a complete set of instructions, formulas, and examples for computation of Ascendant primary directions.

Manual of Celestial Navigation Mar 22 2020 "The Manual of Celestial Navigation was conceived and the arrangement devised while the author was on duty as an instructor in navigation at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. With all the wealth of research which has taken place in celestial navigation since the turn of the century, it would be virtually impossible to produce a method which is original in its entirety. ... The distinctive features of this Manual of Celestial Navigation are: 1. Methods for working sights and plotting lines of position from both an assumed position and the D.R. position are included in one book. 2. There is no interpolation. 3. The azimuth is most positively determinate in both methods. A new azimuth rule has removed the ambiguity from the solution for azimuth from an assumed position. 4. The solution is short, simple, and uniform under all conditions. As the navigator's work at sea consists largely of computing data for lines of position, this manual has been arranged primarily to make that problem easy to solve. In point of time, the basic method in this manual compares favorably with the various other short methods."--The preface Regulus Missile Service and Launching Instructions Sep 20 2022 The Regulus missile was a direct outgrowth of World War II. The success of Germany's V-1 buzz bombs and the awesome power of the a-bomb suggested that developing a submarine-launched, nuclear-armed guided missile was an imperative. The Chance-Vought Aircraft Company won the contract for Regulus with a bold proposal. Their missile resembled a pilotless jet aircraft, and during the test phase was equipped with landing gear, allowing the missile to be recovered rather than expended during the tests. Regulus would be radio controlled, either by a chase aircraft or by a nearby ship or submarine, and it could carry a nuclear payload. JATO boosters enabled submarine launch of the Regulus. It would be deployed aboard five submarines. They conducted the nation's first nuclear deterrent patrols off the coast of the Soviet Union in 1959-1964. Originally printed by the U.S. Navy and Chance-Vought, this handbook was restricted. It was declassified and is here reprinted in book form.

Instructions Not Supplied Mar 02 2021 Instructions Not Supplied is the account of one family's experience in adopting three children, each of whom turned out to have special needs, and the challenges they have faced along the way. Some of the difficult situations they have faced are simply part of a family life; others are as a direct result of the children's disabilities and difficulties, including autism, attention deficit hyper-activity disorder, foetal alcohol syndrome, attachment disorder and sensory issues. A story of adoption, autism and coming together as a family, this book describes with honesty and humour how the behaviour of the children has often challenged the adults around them. It also explores the process of diagnosis and the difficulty of getting the right support both for the children and their parents, with insights for all parents and teachers of children with complex needs. The book is a unique insight into the twin challenges of adoption and disability, an invaluable read for prospective adopters and adoptive parents as well as natural parents of children with additional support needs. It is equally valuable for practitioners, as it gives an insight into the family life of those parenting such children and how best to support them.
