June issues, 1941-44 and Nov. issue, 1945, include a buyers' guide section. James Piazza is a Western New York-based archivist and music historian. He developed a series of multimedia presentations on experimental music, ambient sound, archival techniques for digital audio, and lectures on personal media servers for large file libraries. His primary goal is to create a greater public understanding and awareness of 20th century music and sound. Piazza founded Innerspace Labs as an independent music archive chiefly communicating with the public via The Innerspace Connection music blog. He manages a library of over 300,000 soundworks focusing on ambient and experimental recordings. This book comprises the first 12 years of our publications showcasing highlights of the Archive, as well as select previously unpublished works. Consumer guides & advice. Manual of Geospatial Science and Technology shows how to work across the range of geospatial science and technology, whether as a user or as a contractor of services employing these technologies, and without either specialist education or substantial experience. The manual covers the fundamentals, providing the requisite mathematics, computer science and physics necessary to understand how the technologies work, assuming some elementary background in calculus and physics. It also shows how the technologies can be used together and focuses on their commonalities. A number of applications such as mapping and environmental modeling are presented, and a Web site accompanies the book. On Friday, September 1, 2000, I began retyping the day's NEW YORK TIMES word for word, letter for letter, from the upper left hand corner to the lower right hand corner, page by page." With these words, Kenneth Goldsmith embarked upon a project which he termed "uncreative writing", that is: uncreativity as a constraint-based process; uncreativity as a creative practice. By typing page upon page, making no distinction between article, editorial and advertisement, disregarding all typographic and graphical treatments, Goldsmith levels the daily newspaper. DAY is a monument to the ephemeral, comprised of yesterday's news, a fleeting moment concretized, captured, then reframed into the discourse of literature. "When I reach 40, I hope to have cleansed myself of all creativity"-Kenneth Goldsmith. A guide to Mac computing essentials showcases the updated features of OS X, covering installation, integration, applications, networking, and troubleshooting.
