A New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice, Ben Schrank's Love Is a Canoe is a smart, funny, romantic, and hugely satisfying novel about the fragility of human relationships and a heartwarming reminder of what it really means to be good to those we love. The author of a classic self-help guide to love and relationships, Peter Herman has won the hearts of romantics and cynics alike. But decades have passed since Marriage Is a Canoe was published and a recently widowed Peter begins to question his own advice. Much to his chagrin, he receives a call from Stella Petrovic, an ambitious young editor in New York City who forces him to reconsider his life's work, not to mention the full force of his delusions. The book's fiftieth anniversary is approaching, and Petrovic has devised a contest to promote the new edition. The prize? The chance for the winning couple—a pair of outwardly happy Brooklynites named Emily and Eli—to save their relationship by spending a weekend with the reclusive author. If Peter is going to help the contest's winners, he must discover what he meant when he wrote Marriage Is a Canoe—and also find a way for himself to love again... Steve Hutchison reviews 100 amazing supernatural horror films from the 1990s. Each film is analyzed and discussed with a synopsis and a rating. The movies are ranked. How many have you seen? Have you ever wondered how to write a book? Or perhaps you've written a manuscript that's already been edited to death, yet still isn't good enough? Writing your novel doesn't need to be a painful or lonely experience. Sit with me and let me teach you all I've learned about creative writing tips and tricks. You are already talented if you've written a book or are ready to write fiction, which means half the battle is already won. I have good news, writing skills can most assuredly be learned! This guide is designed to answer the following questions: • What should I consider before writing? • How to write a novel which has heavy world-building elements? • How do I approach edits? • What sells a book to agents? • How can I make connections in the writing and publishing community? • Should I self-publish? This guide answers all these questions and more by giving a personal review of actual author pitfalls and how they were overcome as well as soul-searching questions that'll reveal your true writing goals. Authorship : Bonus Content! • Author interviews from both traditionally and self-published authors. • Samples of winning Twitter Pitch Tweets to see what agents and publishers are looking for, and how you can grab their attention! How do you use Windows PowerShell to navigate the filesystem, manage files and folders, or retrieve a web page? This introduction to the PowerShell language and scripting environment provides more than 400 task-oriented recipes to help you solve all kinds of problems. Intermediate to advanced system administrators will find more than 100 tried-and-tested scripts they can copy and use immediately. Updated for PowerShell 3.0, this comprehensive cookbook includes hands-on recipes for common tasks and administrative jobs that you can apply whether you're on the client or server version of Windows. You also get quick references to technologies used in conjunction with PowerShell, including format specifiers and frequently referenced registry keys to selected .NET, COM, and WMI classes. Learn how to use PowerShell on Windows 8 and Windows Server 2012 Tour PowerShell's core features, including the command model, object-based pipeline, and ubiquitous scripting Master fundamentals such as the interactive shell, pipeline, and object concepts Perform common tasks that involve working with files, Internet-connected scripts, user interaction, and more Solve tasks in systems and enterprise management, such as working with Active Directory and the filesystem In 2009, when Raquel Cepeda almost lost her estranged father to heart disease, she was terrified she'd never know the truth about her ancestry. Every time she looked in the mirror, Cepeda saw a mystery—a tapestry of races and ethnicities that came together in an ambiguous mix. With time running out, she decided to embark on an archaeological dig of sorts by using the science of ancestral DNA testing to excavate everything she could about her genetic history. Digging through memories long buried, she embarks upon a journey not only into her ancestry but also into her own history. Born in Harlem to Dominican parents, she was sent to live with her maternal grandparents in the Paraíso (Paradise) district in Santo Domingo while still a baby. It proved to be an idyllic reprieve in her otherwise fraught childhood. Paraíso came to mean family, home, belonging. When Cepeda returned to the US, she discovered her family constellation had changed. Her mother had a new, abusive boyfriend, who relocated the family to San Francisco. When that relationship fell apart, Cepeda found herself back in New York City with her father and European stepmother: attending tennis lessons and Catholic schools; fighting vicious battles with her father, who discouraged her from expressing the Dominican part of her hyphenated identity; and immersed in the '80s hip-hop culture of uptown Manhattan. It was in these streets, through the prism of hip-hop and the sometimes loving embrace of her community, that Cepeda constructed her own identity. Years later, when Cepeda had become a successful journalist and documentary filmmaker, the strands of her DNA would take her further, across the globe and into history. Who were her ancestors? How did they—and she—become Latina? Her journey, as the most unforgettable ones often do, would lead her to places she hadn't expected to go. With a vibrant lyrical prose and fierce honesty, Cepeda parses concepts of race, identity, and ancestral DNA among Latinos by using her own Dominican-American story as one example, and in the process arrives at some sort of peace with her father.

Durable Protecting Power of Attorney is a legal document that allows you, the Principal, to appoint a person you trust, the Agent, with the power to act in an administrative capacity, intervene when the subservient Agent violates their fiduciary duties, and ensure transparency. Thus, the Agent serves as a "Protector" of the Principal's interest and property. The Principal can change their mind by revoking the powers granted to the Agent at any time. The Principal can avoid a court battle due to a rogue Agent, especially when the Principal is unable to act due to incapacitation, incompetency, or function non-socially. This book contains easy instructions, detailed information, and legal forms to help carry out your power of attorney. The book consists of (01) one Durable Power of Attorney (Protecting), (16) sixteen Supporting Documents, (05) five Miscellaneous Forms, (02) two Recommended Forms, and (04) four Appendix. NOW YOU CAN WRITE THAT GREAT NOVEL, DESIGN THE COVER, PUBLISH IT, MARKET IT AND FIND MORE WORK AS AN AUTHOR. BUY IT! USE IT! LOVE IT! In 1788, the Catalogue of Five Hundred Celebrated Authors of Great Britain, Now Living forecast a form of authorship that rested on biographical revelation and media saturation as well as literary achievement. This collection traces the unique experiences of women writers within a celebrity culture that was intimately connected to the expansion of print technology and of visual and material culture in the nineteenth century. The contributors examine a wide range of artifacts, including prefaces, portraits, frontispieces, birthday books, calendars and gossip columns, to consider the nature of women's celebrity and the forces that created it. How did authors like Jane Austen, the Countess of Blessington, Louisa May Alcott, Alice Meynell, and Marie Corelli negotiate the increasing demands for public revelation of the private self? How did gender shape the posthumous participation of women writers such as Jane Austen, Ellen Wood, Mary Elizabeth Braddon and Christina Rossetti in celebrity culture? These and other important questions related to the treatment of women in celebrity genres and media, and the strategies women writers used to control their public images, are taken up in this suggestive exploration of how nineteenth and early twentieth century women writers achieved popular, critical, and commercial success. New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself, while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea. Mild, Gullible and pleasant teen Kyara, the fashion geek had been living a life which every girl would dream about. Her enthralling designer dresses, whose length never reaching below her knees were bought from the fashion streets of the vogue capitals. Calling herself a definition of flawlessness, she thought that God had spent an extra time in designing her. Rehaam Alhamd was born with all the bravura elements spoons. Living the high status life of twenty two years, he had all the traits of a business person; he was bossy, elegant, along with having captivating looks. His love life consisting of Maisha went smoothly until he saw her cousin, Kyara who made him go gaga for herself. Acutely entangled in an intense and passionate love affair, Rehaam and Kyara, for a while forgot the pungent realities. Seeing your love, love someone else, made her realise that whom she had chosen had reversibly chosen the one who had chosen many before choosing him! Baffled by the incongruity which had changed her short skirts into dresses not even showing her hair, atheism into piousness, and perfection into flaw, she had devoted her life and after to him. Though that love was distinctly divine, they had no thought of their end as Rehaam and Kyara could never be named together! A mother-daughter writing team reports on what's really up with kids today Science writer Robin Marantz Henig and her daughter, journalist Samantha Henig, offer a smart, comprehensive look at what it's really like to be twentysomething—and to what extent it ' s different for Millennials than it was for their Baby Boomer parents. The Henigs combine the behavioral science literature for insights into how young people make choices about schooling, career, marriage, and childbearing; how they relate to parents, friends, and lovers; and how technology both speeds everything up and slows everything down. Packed with often-surprising discoveries, Twentysomething is a two-generation conversation that will become the definitive book on being young in our time. "The fullest guide through this territory . . . A densely researched report on the state of middleclass young people today, drawn from several data sources and filtered through a comparative lens." —The New Yorker Awesome Elegant Journals To Keep All of your Notes, Thoughts, Homework & More in. Grab one today and start writing tomorrow! Moon of Phases a book compiled by Deepika Kathiresan presented by Unvoiced Heart Publication. Its comprises of 27 co authors who have penned their writeups with lot of creativity and imagination. The book is too special to everyone who are a part of the book. The book not only cherishes happiness but joins hands with people who are so unique in their own thoughts A woman sets out on a cross-country road trip, unknowingly tracing in reverse the path her mother traveled thirty years before. “ Tender, touching, original, and rich with delicious period detail of Hollywood ' s heyday—buckle up, because you ' ll definitely want to go on a road trip after reading this delightful book! ” —Hazel Gaynor, New York Times bestselling author of The Girl Who Came Home In the 1950s, movie star Louise Wilde is caught between an unfulfilling acting career and a shaky marriage when she receives an out-of-the-blue phone call: She has inherited the estate of Florence “ Florrie ” Daniels, a Hollywood screenwriter she barely recalls meeting. Among Florrie ’ s possessions are several unproduced screenplays, personal journals, and—inexplicably—old photographs of Louise ’ s mother, Ethel. On an impulse, Louise leaves a film shoot in Las Vegas and sets off for her father ’ s house on the East Coast, hoping for answers about the curious inheritance and, perhaps, about her own troubled marriage. Nearly thirty years earlier, Florrie takes off on an adventure of her own, driving her Model T westward from New Jersey in pursuit of broader horizons. She has the promise of a Hollywood job and, in the passenger seat, Ethel, her best friend since childhood. Florrie will do anything for Ethel, who is desperate to reach Nevada in time to reconcile with her husband and reunite with her daughter. Ethel fears the loss of her marriage; Florrie, with long-held secrets confided only in her journal, fears its survival. In parallel tales, the three women—Louise, Florrie, Ethel—discover that not all journeys follow a map. As they rediscover their carefree selves on the road, they learn that sometimes the paths we follow are shaped more by our traveling companions than by our destinations. From one of America ’ s most beloved television actresses: A sharply observed, comedic novel about the flipside of fame—and a fresh take on Hollywood in all its outrageous, entertaining glory. On the outside, Kate Keyes-Morgan seems to have it all: a starring role on the hit television series Generations, a handsome husband who is also her manager, a stick-thin figure, and a career that, after a Kirstie Alley-style slide, is finally back on track. At the age of thirty, Kate knows what it ’ s like to have the tabloids turn on you, and she never wants it to happen again. Thank goodness her husband, Hamilton, is there to manage her every move—even if the strict dieting and morning weigh-ins are becoming more than she can manage. But when Hamilton leaves her for another actress on Generations, the ruthless diva Sapphire Rose, Kate suddenly finds herself in charge of her own life. Now she must decide whether she ’ s ready to stop playing by the Hollywood rulebook and discover who she really is. With the help of her wise-cracking friend and tough-love hairstylist, Paige, and Michael, a high-powered film agent who secretly dreams of becoming a novelist, Kate begins to question her role in an industry that venerates appearance, money, and fame above all else, and that applies ceaseless pressure on women to always be thinner, younger, and more beautiful, at any cost. From high fashion to on-set antics to the real-life whispers about celebrities that even the tabloids never tell, Courtney Thorne-Smith depicts the entertainment world as only an insider can. Yet beneath the glamorous facade lies a natural-born writer with a gift for comic timing and shaping memorable characters. If you ’ ve ever wanted to experience life in the spotlight or wondered what goes on behind dressing room doors, Outside In is your invitation into the glittering world of Hollywood ’ s biggest stars. This contemporary classic gets a limited edition makeover with movie art and a new preface from Donald Miller. In print for nearly a decade, Blue Like Jazz has earned a coveted spot on readers ’ shelves and in their hearts. Many have said that Donald Miller expressed exactly what they were feeling but couldn ’ t find the words to say themselves. In this landmark book that changed what people expected from Christian writers, that changed what people needed for their spiritual journeys, Donald Miller takes readers through a real life striving to understand relationship with God. Heartwarming and hilarious, poignant and unexpected, Blue Like Jazz has become a contemporary classic. For anyone wondering if the Christian faith is still relevant in a postmodern culture, thirsting for a genuine encounter with a God who is real, or yearning for a renewed sense of passion in life . . . Blue Like Jazz is a fresh and original perspective on life, love, and redemption. Steve Hutchison reviews 100 amazing horror films from the 1990s. Each film is analyzed and discussed with a synopsis and a rating. The movies are ranked. How many have you seen? National Book Award Winner: A grieving teenager wonders if she ’ ll ever understand anything—especially the big things—in life. Time passed, and all the minutes hurt . . . After her father ’ s death, Victoria Finch ’ s life changes completely. To save money, she and her mother move from Boston to a small house in the town of New Oxford. There, Victoria attends school in a building that resembles a train station, where no one pays her much attention. Then she meets Hugh Todd, the rich kid who runs the school ' s theater club. He ' s charming, adventurous, and encouraging, and he takes particular interest in Victoria ' s writing. Hugh ' s presence reinvigorates Victoria ' s life. But he needs something as well, and as the months pass, Victoria realizes that his friendship comes at a high price. A New York Times Outstanding Book of the Year, A Place Apart is a lyrical novel of loss, friendship, and moving on. London. A guy meets a girl. But this is not a love story. Not a traditional one, at least. She has petroleum coloured hair, she's a bit 'wacky, talkative, pushy. He, a brilliant young journalist trapped in an unrewarding job. Together they plunge to the discovery of their city, turning every date into a little adventure, learning to know each other and dreaming about the future. But, one morning, she disappears. Without a note, with no explanation. Every object related to her seems magically vanished. Finding her, for him, becomes an obsession leading him to doubt himself, to face uncomfortable truths, to re-evaluate his choices, his relationships with other people, the whole concept he has always had of himself and his world. Who really is Leila? How much is she real?

The Four Hard Edges of War is Andre de Korvin's brilliant book length poem exploring pre and post World War II. In his words: "The Four Hard Edges of War explores the shattered mirror. It starts at the outer edges, which are light years away from the impact point. Then it moves inward where economic and social dislocation permeate our lives. Moving closer we can see no further than a lifetime. At the center lies the instant when we walked away with pieces of the mirror in our heart."
